Larry "Tha Volcano" Stamps Jr.

Business owner / Songwriter / Producer

Chef Sasha The Boss is the recording name of Sonya M. Stamps, a business owner, recording artist, songwriter, poet, author, and chef. She creates music with her husband and producer, Larry "Tha Volcano" Stamps Jr., through Volcanic Productions. Love, family, and personal growth are central to her writing.

Larry Stamps Jr., a business owner and songwriter also known as The Big Bad Wolf, began rapping in sixth grade and formed Fully Loaded in high school. He developed his production and recording skills through college studio courses and independent study. His style combines harmonized vocals, influenced by Bone Thugs-N-Harmony, with shifts between slower passages and rapid flows.

The couple's connection began in high school, where Sonya remembers Larry beatboxing and rapping in the lunchroom. Today, their shared creative work includes music and other projects. Sonya's work also spans Sonya Stamps Publishing, upcoming books, cooking, Little Bakers, and Sasha's Kitchen Secrets.

Both are affiliated with ASCAP. Sonya writer IPI: 1362318562; publisher IPI not yet received. Larry has writer and publisher IPIs, with publishing registered as Volcanic Productions in his name.
